

Top College Choices for Hispanic Students

The following schools strongly support Hispanic students and programs.

DePaul University – <http://www.depaul.edu>
The University works with the National Hispanic Institute

Florida International University – <http://www.fiu.edu>
More Hispanics graduate from this university than any other in the US

MIT– <http://web.mit.edu>
Strong financial aid program to support Hispanic students

New Mexico State University – <http://www.nmsu.edu>
A full-member of the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities; engineering school strongly supports minorities

Our Lady of Lake University– <http://www.ollusa.edu>
The National Association of Hispanic Colleges and Universities was founded at this college.

Rice University – <http://www.rice.edu>
Curriculum contains a strong Hispanic aspect

Rutgers University–Newark – <http://rutgers-newark.rutgers.edu>
Financial bargains for local Hispanics

San Diego State University – <http://www.sdsu.edu>
The oldest Chicano studies department in California

San Francisco State University – <http://www.sfsu.edu>
Offers a master's degree in ethnic studies

Stanford University – <http://www.stanford.edu>
There are a great number of organizations on campus that are Hispanic-related

St. Mary's University – <http://www.stmarytx.edu>
Graduation rates for Hispanic students is very high

University of California at Berkeley – <http://www.berkeley.edu>
There is a strong program that recruits Hispanic students